Point
02

Widely recognised as reliable source of information

KBUNSHA has been publishing free study abroad guidebooks in collaboration with foreign embassies and official organizations since late 1990s. Because of the long experience of producing study abroad guidebooks, KBUNSHA has gained trust from teachers/staff of Japanese institutions. Schools and institutions use KBUNSHA Guidebooks as reliable “textbooks” at their study abroad events.

Point

Promotion through KBUNSHA websites

KBUNSHA has been running a study abroad website for over 15 years and it is widely known by schools and institutions in Japan. All contents of the New Zealand Guidebook will be posted on a website dedicated for studying in New Zealand. The website is linked to the KBUNSHA main site and will further increase the exposure of information about advertising institutions. <https://kbunsha.com/newzealand/>

Features of KBUNSHA guidebooks

- ▶ It is an increasing trend to get information for free and free publications are more widely read.
- ▶ A large circulation (20,000 copies plus on-line version) makes it possible to send multiple copies to over 3,000 organizations. Those organizations that receive our guidebooks can therefore distribute free copies to students at their own events.
- ▶ KBUNSHA Guidebooks are distributed to over 150 international offices of municipal governments, and they give away our guidebooks to visitors at their offices and events.
- ▶ Comprehensive information on education systems, how to apply and for living in the country.
- ▶ People tend to keep KBUNSHA Guidebooks for a long time from the time when they first start thinking about study abroad plans until after they start studying in the country.

Contents

- Comprehensive overview of New Zealand education system for international students in Japanese language and study opportunities for Japanese students
- Practical information on student lifestyle in New Zealand
